Welcome Note

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

The Immunology of Diabetes Society (IDS) is a scientific society dedicated to improving understanding and treatment of type 1 diabetes. To provide a convenient platform bringing together strands of scientific endeavour in type 1 diabetes research, IDS organizes a Congress every 18 months. We are proud to announce that the 17th IDS Congress will take place in Beijing, China, April 22-26, 2020.

On behalf of the congress organisers and the IDS Council, we welcome you to the 17th International Congress of the Immunology of Diabetes Society being held at the Beijing International Convention Center in the heart of Beijing. The Congress will report many breakthroughs in type 1 diabetes research and the platform for many discussions on dynamic and controversial topics in the field. We encourage you to mark your calendars for this stimulating event, as it is not only highly informative but also a great opportunity to foster and maintain international collaboration and networks amongst scientists and clinicians working in immunology of type 1 diabetes.

We look forward to your participation in this exciting academic Congress and welcoming you to the beautiful city of Beijing!
